An Overview of Ocular Conditions Presenting in Eye Examinations

COPE accredited CE Program

In the course of conducting routine eye examinations to write or update prescriptions for new spectacles or contact lenses, patients may often present themselves with clinical signs & symptoms of an underlying ocular condition that will require immediate and/or extraordinary attention. This program has been designed to review both the diagnostic criteria for these conditions as well as the latest treatment and management regimens for both non-traumatic red eye conditions including dry eye diseases (DED), which often presents in an eye examination with red eye.
